THE METHODISTS.

Fifty-Eighth Annual Session of the Maine Conference.

FIFTH AND SIXTH DAYS—CLOSING EXERCISES—THE APPOINTMENTS.

(Special Dispatch to the Press.)

AUGUSTA, May 1.

SUNDAY.

Conference Sunday, the only day of rest in the year for a Methodist minister, is always a season of peculiar interest, to those who have been separated for a year, and are on the morrow to separate again to "fields unknown." The presence of so many prominent ministers makes the occasion one of unusual interest. Dr. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate in New York, William Taylor the man who puts so many missionaries into the foreign field, Dr. Vincent, corresponding secretary of our Sunday School Union, Dr. Hartzell, superintendent of our work among the Freedmen, Dr. Kidder, editor of our Sunday school and tract literature, and chaplain McCabe, secretary of our church extension society, with Bishop Andrews and many other visitors, presents an array of ministerial talent seldom seen at our annual conference, and the services have been of deep interest in all the churches.

The conference services were held in the Granite Congregational church, which is very large and was kindly offered for our accommodation. At 9 o'clock the church was well filled for the love feast, conducted by Dr. S. Allen, and was a very joyful occasion.

At 10.30 Bishop Andrews preached a powerful sermon on Faith, taking his text from Mark xi, 22—"Have faith in God."

It was very clear and instructive to those who are seeking to live a life of faith, and was delivered with great unction and power.

The sermon was followed by the ordination of Bros. Berry and Emerson as deacons. A collection of sixty-four dollars was taken for the superannuated preachers and widows of the conference.

At 3 o'clock Dr. Buckley preached from Daniel 2, 44—"In the days of the Kings, God shall set up a kingdom, etc." The theme was the permanence and indestructibility of the kingdom of Christ, indications of which are seen in its progress and triumph over all opposing influences.

After the sermon Bishop Andrews, assisted by four Elders ordained Gardiner D. Holmes, George L. Burbank, Everett S. Stackpole, William F. Marshall, Melville E. King, and publicly recognized the parchments of James Robinson as a local elder received from the Free Baptist Church.

Interesting services were held in the evening in nearly all the churches in the city which were supplied during the day by prominent visiting clergymen.

MONDAY.

At 9 o'clock the conference opened with the Bishop in the chair.

S. F. Wetherbee reported for the Steward fund distributed among the needy preachers or their widows $1831.00, leaving in the treasury of the Preachers' Aid Society as a contingent fund $193.00.

James Nixon's character passed. D. Perry, J. Hawkes and Isaac Lord were made supernumeraries without appointment. Bro. Lord addressed the conference and explained in a few words with much feeling his had been a continuous ministry for fifty-two years. He was now eighty years old and he felt he needed rest.

The case of Bro. Murphy was reconsidered, and he was made supernumerary without an appointment.

Leave of absence was granted to K. Atkinson and Joshua Frost.

D. B. Randall asked that his relation as superannuated may continue. It was granted.

Voted—That the pastors at Ogunquit and Madison Bridge be permitted to solicit funds within this conference to aid in church building.

Took up II Question—"Who are admitted on trial?"

Charles F. Parsons, Charles S. Cummings, Herbert A. Foss, Frank R. Butler, Walter Canham, Robert E. Bisbee.

These were all examined and admitted. Wm. C. Kitchen was voted elder's orders for missionary work in Japan. J. G. Bond was elected also to elder's orders for missionary work in New Orleans.

George D. Lindsay reported for the committee on marriage and divorce:

The committee re-emphasized their resolutions of last year, that ministers should preach at least once on the subject of temperance in all the churches during the current conference year; that no person should be employed by presiding elders as a stated supply who has been divorced for any other cause than that specified by our Lord; that it is wrong for any minister to marry a couple when there is suspicion of either of the parties having been divorced for any other cause than treach of the seventh commandment; that the pastors of the three Methodist Episcopal churches to be stationed in Portland be a committee to co-operate with the other committee in furthering endeavors to improve our laws in this regard.

Voted, That the three preachers stationed at Portland with Bro. Wetherbee be a committee of conference and correspondence on that subject.

THE CHERRYFIELD MURDER.

C. L. Cunningham On Trial for the Murder of Harriet E. Sprague—Prisoner Pleads Not Guilty

CALAIS, May 1.—In the Supreme Court the trial of Chester S. Cunningham for the murder of Harriet E. Sprague at Cherryfield, March 19th, commenced to-day. The prisoner pleaded not guilty. The court room was crowded with people who scoffed the prisoner when brought in. He appears unconcerned and indifferent.

C. B. Rounds, county attorney, read the indictment. He is assisted by A. McNichol. The prisoner's counsel are John F. Lynch of Machias, E. B. Harvey of Calais, Frank McGraw of Eastport.

Fred Campbell testified he knew the prisoner and victim; both lived in the Ridge district, two miles from Cherryfield; had seem them together driving. He made a plan of the locality where the crime was committed; the evening was starlight.

John R. Willey testified he spent Sunday afternoon, March 19th, in company with the prisoner and Mrs. Sprague. They had an altercation about a ring. He saw them at church in the evening; after meeting walked with Mrs. Sprague a short distance when I felt a jar of my right shoulder then saw Cunningham pull back Mrs. Sprague's head and draw his hand across her throat but saw no weapon. I cried "murder" and helped carry her to Union Hall. She lived about ten minutes.

Dolly A. Allen saw Cunningham run past her, seize Mrs. Sprague by her head with his left haud, pull her head back; saw Mrs. Sprague fall when her throat was cut.

Eli F. Allen saw Cunningham plainly. He caught Mrs. Sprague by the head and cut her throat.

Other witnesses testified substantially as above.

Dr. Milliken testified the wound commenced half an inch to the left of the middle line extending to within half an inch of the middle line behind. The skin, muscles, jugular vein and carotid artery were cut. Nothing could save her life. She could not speak after such a wound.

Patrick Connors, brother-in law to Cunningham, testified that Cunningham came to his house at 9 o'clock in the evening of March 19th; we slept together. In the morning Cunningham said there was trouble in the village and expected the officers would be after him. He made no attempt to get away when the officers came and arrested him.

This closed the testimony for the prosecution and court adjourned at 5.45.

A Sudden Death.

BANGOR, May 1.—Horace Durgin, aged about seventy-five years, doing business on Main street, went to his store Monday morning, apparently in good health. He commenced to read the morning paper, and fell back, dying without a word. Apoplexy was probably the case of his death.

Waldo S. J. Court.

BELFAST, May 1.—The Supreme Judicial Court of Waldo County, Judge Virgin presiding, adjourned Monday morning after a session of twelve days. Ten verdicts were rendered and eight divorces granted. George Spear for assault with intent to kill, was sentenced to one year in the Portland workhouse.

Fire in Lewiston.

LEWISTON, May 1.—The three-story tenement house on Ash street owned by A. L. Parker, took fire to-night. The roof was burned out and the house damaged by water to the amount of $1200 or more probably. Insured in the Metropolitan for $1500.

A Thief Arrested.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 1.—Charles Verlin, steward of schooner Thomas W. Hyde of Bath, was sent to jail to-day in default of $400 bail to appear at the October term of the Supreme Court for the larceny of money from the captain of that vessel.

MARINE NEWS.

An Abandoned Schooner Towed Into Boothbay.

BOOTHBAY, May 1.—The fishing schooner Carl Schurz of Gloucester, was towed in here this afternoon derelict, by schooner Sarah Louisa of New York, lumber laden. Said schooner was picked up ninety miles east from Gloucester with both masts and bowsprit gone, boat stove at the davits and full of water and no evidences of being in collision. The crew with their clothing and cabin articles had probably been taken off and are no doubt safe.

THE PERUVIAN COMPANY.

Senator Blair Appears Before the Committee.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Senator Blair was before the committee on foreign affairs this morning. He was sworn, and Chairman Williams began a series of questions to which Mr. Blair replied. He desired before answering direct questions to submit as a part of the record his correspondence with the committee touching his appearance before them. The letters were read and ordered made a part of the record, as was also the resolution of the Senate granting the witness permission to appear before the committee

Senator Blair then said: "I have in a somewhat hurried manner prepared a general statement in relation to the subject under investigation, which I will read. I will then be pleased to answer such questions as I properly can.

Representative Blount desired to know exactly what was meant. He thought the witness had put himself unreservedly into the hands of the committee. If any questions were to be reserved, he thought it had better be settled at once.

Mr. Blair replied that he could not tell in advance what questions might be asked, but he did not expect to ask any indulgence whatever. He then said, in effect, "I know nothing of the membership of the Peruvian company except President Shipherd. I do not know of any member of either house being in any way whatever connected with it except myself, and my connection with it was purely as counsel with no pecuniary interest whatever in the company and with no expectation whatever of pecuniary reward."

The statement then rehearsed at some length the situation of affairs in Peru and the writer's sympathy for Peru and desire to prevent her dismemberment which led him to take an interest in the purposes and objects of the Peruvian Company. The statement then set forth the circumstances which led up to the witness accepting a retainer from the Peruvian Company. He was introduced to Mr. Shipherd in New York, as he (the witness) was passing through on his way to Connecticut shire. Later, near the middle of July, he saw Shipherd again in New York and had a conference with him, in which Shipherd expressed strong sympathy with Peru and explained that his company was calculated to afford an opportunity to Peru to settle her difficulties and avoid loss of territory.

The witness listened to a long account from Shipherd of the plans of the company and promised his cordial sympathy and aid. Shipherd spoke of offering a retainer, which the witness at that time declined. Some time in August, Shipherd wrote, offering the witness as a retainer stock in the company. The witness replied that he preferred a retainer in money if he took any. Shortly after he (Shipherd) sent the witness some scrip which he subsequently returned for reasons which he set forth at the time in a letter.

The witness then read the letter in which while expressing his hearty sympathy with Peru and the Peruvian Company in its desire to save her from dismemberment, he found that events were taking a turn which rendered it highly probable that the subject would become one of Congressional action, and in view of his distinct stipulation in deciding to take a retainer that he should return it any time under such contingencies, he therefore returned the scrip and assured Shipherd that his sympathy was still strongly with the line of policy toward Peru which the Peruvian Company favored.

The witness then read a letter which he wrote at the same time to ex-Senator Eaton, remarking: "With the exception of ex-Senator Cragin, this is the only gentleman with whom I ever had any correspondence on the subject." The letter to ex-Senator Eaton bore the date of November 26, 1881. The letter says:

"Shipherd's management of the affairs of the Peruvian company seems to be tending so much in a direction toward requiring Congressional action that I felt it my duty to retire from connection as counsel, and I have returned my retainer."

In further allusion to the company, it says: "In fact I have never received anything of value from it, and again I should be sorry if this opportunity to help both North and South America should be lost by failure on the part of our government to maintain a mild yet firm policy."

The witness explained his view of what thi policy had been, and added, "As far as I know the affair of Shipherd had no influence whatever upon the policy of our government and never had the effect to alter or change it in a perceivable degree."

The witness then alluded to the interviews with Senator Blaine which took place on the 25th and 26th of July, and added, I have no desire to go over in detail what what occurred at these interviews unless it be the wish of the committee that I shall do so. I desire to state that I never heard Shipherd make any mention in the presence of Mr. Blaine or on any other occasion in my presence of his having made an offer to Minister Hurlbut of $250,000 of stock in the Peruvian company; neither did I ever have any correspondence with Minister Hurlbut on the subject of the Peruvian company." The witness had received a letter from Hurlbut, but never answered it. In the letter, Hurlbut mentioned having received many communications from Shipherd and said that he could not make him (Shipherd) understand that he (Hurlbut) could not act in the matter except on instructions from the State department.

The witness never replied to the letter of Hurlbut's. He said he never roughly blocked out an answer and had no objection to showing the committee how he would have replied to it.

The committee decided they did not care for the reply as it had not been sent.

The witness then stated that he knew of the letter to Mr. Arizola, but he had nothing to do with its preparation. Shipherd read to him (witness) some portion of it after it had been sent. The witness did not see at the time or now any impropriety in Shipherd's sending it to Arizola through Minister Hurlbut. It was known that the mails were being tampered with, and this seemed to be the only secure way of sending the letter so it would reach its final destination.

The witness first saw the long letter of Shipherd to Walker Blaine when he saw it in the printed report of Shipherd's examination before the committee. He had, however, been requested by Secretary Blaine to inform Shipherd that he (Blaine) didn't wish him (Shipherd) to hold any correspondence with any subordinate of the State Department, and this desire he had verbally conveyed to Shipherd.

The witness knew nothing of the Credit Industriel or their contract with Calderon. The witness then stated that he was prepared to answer any question.

Mr. Blount stated that he wished to have the statement in print before further examination.

The committee went into secret session and the room was cleared. It was decided during the secret session that the sub-committee to go to New York will remain at Washington until Mr. Blair's testimony is concluded.

Chairman Williams says he will call the committee Wednesday or Thursday to resume the examination of Mr. Blaine.

It is thought the sub-committee will be ready to start early next week.

The 13th Call for Bonds

SPORTING.

The Hanlan-Trickett Race on the Thames.

ANOTHER EASY VICTORY FOR THE CANADIAN OARSMAN.

LONDON, May 1.—The rowing match between Hanlan of Canada and Trickett of Australia has just taken place on the Thames and has been won by Hanlan by four lengths. The course was from Putney to Mortlake and the stakes £1000. Hanlan won the race with great ease.

PUTNEY, May 1.—The weather was splendid. There was a large attendance of spectators along the river to view the race. A slight breeze prevailed, but it was in favor of the scullers. Trickett before the race was backed for a hundred, at an average of 7 to 2 against him. He appeared to be confident of winning. Hanlac appeared as confident as usual.

LONDON, May 1.—1.15 p. m.—Under Hammersmith bridge, one mile and three-quarters from the starting point, Hanlan was leading Trickett by four lengths. The accounts as to the number of boat lengths by which Hanlan won the race vary. At 28 minutes after 12 o'clock, the start was a good one; Hanlan had slightly the best of Trickett, and led immediately afterward. The steamers following the rowers were laden with people. The men imbarked in their boats half an hour before the race was started. Both of them were much applauded. Trickett just before the start appeared to be somewhat anxious. The final betting was 5 to 1 on Hanlan. Hanlan was rowing easily at Hammersmith bridge. There was never any doubt of the result. Hanlan promptly rowed Trickett down. At Craven Cottage, 6 furlongs from the starting point, Hanlan was one-quarter of a length clear of Trickett, and at the creek about two lengths and a half.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 1.

Mr. Pendleton submitted papers in the case of James O'Neil, sentenced by Minister Bingham in Japan to six years for manslaughter, and who was denied a habeas corpus, but who finally landed in Alabama by direction of the state department. After some debate the papers were referred to the foreign committee.

Mr. Hoar from the committee on library, reported in response to the letter of the Secretary of State on the subject that an amendment be offered to the sundry civil bill appropriating $35,000 for the purchase of the manuscript, papers and books of the Benj. Franklin collection belonging to H. Stevens of London.

Mr. Edmunds from the committee on judiciary, made an oral report upon the message of the President touching the so-called cow boy disturbances in Arizona and suggesting certain enabling legislation regarding the use of the army as a posse comitatus.

The bill to repeal discriminatsons against the appointment of ex-Confederates in the army of the United States, again came up on the calendar and a division upon the pending question to refer to the committee on judiciary, resulted in 21 in favor to 19 against it. The yeas and nays were ordered and Mr. Call took the floor in favor of the bill. He was followed by Mr. George.

Upon the close of Mr. George's remarks the Senate then took up as unfinished business the Senate bill to establish a court of appeals. The bill after an explanation of it by Mr. Davis of Illinois was informally laid aside and the Senate listened to a speech by Mr. Saunders in advocacy of a constitutional amendment providing for election by the people of certain officers now appointed by the President. At the close of Mr. Saunder's remarks the measure was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Adjourned.

A number of bills were introduced and referred.

Mr. Crapo moved to suspend the rules and make the bill for extension of bank charters a special order for May 9th. After some discussion the motion was agreed to.

Mr. Townsend moved to suspend the rules and pass a joint resolution that the President be authorized and requested to immediately open correspondence with the government of China for the purpose of securing a change or the abrogation of all stipulations in existing treaties which permit emigration of Chinese to the United States except for travel, education and foreign commerce.

On motion of Mr. Haskell the Senate bill was passed (with an unimportant amendment) providing for the sale of lands of the Miami Indians in Kansas.

Mr. Clardy moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill levying a tax of ten cents per pint bottle upon all sparkling wines manufactured in the United States except that made by regular process of fermentation of carbonic acid gas in the bottle. The bill failed to pass, the vote standing 66 to 60, not the necessary two-thirds voting in the affirmative.

The rules were suspended and the bills passed for the erection of public buildings in several western and southern cities.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Regular Monthly Meeting of the City Council.

OREN RING APPOINTED LIQUOR AGENT.

The Salary and Appropriation Bills Passed Slightly Amended.

The regular monthly meeting of the City Council was held last evening.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen.

The full board was present and the following business was transacted:

A claim was presented by the Richardson Wharf Company for the cost of dredging their dock, stating that they were unable to rent their buildings on account of deposits from the city sewers. They had engaged the Kennebec Dredging Company to clear away the deposit, at a cost of $890.40, and they petitioned to be reimbursed by the city. The matter was referred to the committee on judicial proceedings and claims.

A communication of Samuel Rolfe, treasurer of the Widows' Wood Society, was read, saying he had distributed $240 as the interest on the Clapp fund.

Dr. G. H. Cummings, city physician for 1881, presented a bill of $133 for attending small pox cases. The bill was referred to the committee on claims.

A communication from M. B. Coolidge, secretary of the Portland Institute and Public Library, was read, requesting that the city government appoint three members to represent the city's interest in that institution. Mayor Libby and ex-Mayors Senter and Richardson were appointed as directors.

The City Clerk was instructed to give notice to those interested in the sewers to be laid out on Turner, Howard and Pine streets that a hearing would be given them June 5th.

James P. Baxter and Dr. Sarah W. Devoll presented a petition, stating that Charles Stafford was wilfully neglected and cruelly treated by his mother, Martha Stafford, and asking that a hearing be given and such action be taken as is necessary in such cases. It was voted to give a hearing in one week.

Charles H. Blake was appointed undertaker and special policeman without pay.

Thomas Fitzgerald, George I. Hodgdon, Robert Drew, H. B. Shaw, H. D. Parker, E. N. Bates, T. Dearing, T. P. Percy, C. R. Taylor, J. H. Frost, P. Keegan, S. H. Scamman, S. Johnson, Sewall Lang and Henry Watts were licensed as victualers, and J. H. Coolidge and S. Schryver as pawnbrokers.

Charles J. Anderson was appointed special policeman without pay at the Alms House, Wm. R. Gribben at Tukey's Bridge, and Jas. L. Rounds and John Ball at the Portland Company.

An order was introduced that the fees of the Harbor Master and City Physician for quarantining vessels be fixed at $5 for each, to be paid for by the vessel and accounted for to the city, but a question as to the right to fix such a fee was raised and it was laid over until the next meeting and the City Solicitor was requested to give his opinion on the subject.

Gen. Neal Dow presented a petition for permission to erect a wooden building in Dow's court. It was stated that the building was already in the process of erection and the City Marshal was instructed to inquire into the matter and report at the next city meeting if this was the case.

A petition of E. Clement & Co. for a building on Sturdivant wharf was disposed of in the same manner.

The petition of Lang & Donahue for permission to erect a boiler in building on Chestnut street, was granted, notice having been given in the papers as voted at the last meeting.

SALARIES.

The committee on salaries made their report and presented a list of salaries the same as those of last year with the exception of that of the Superintendent of Burial, whose salary was increased from $150 to $200; Commissioner of Street from $1200 to $1500 and First Assistant Civil Engineer from $900 to $1000. The salary of the Superintendent of Burials was raised as recommended but it was voted to leave the others as last year. The paper was returned from the lower board in non-currence, with the salaries of the Assistant Civil Engineer and Street Commissioner as first reported by the committee.

It was voted to recede and the bill was passed in concurrence.

The committee also reported that they were unable to agree in the matter of Deputy Marshal's and policemen's salaries.

Alderman Winslow moved that the salaries be fixed at $2.25 per day.

The motion was lost and Alderman Little made a motion, which was seconded by Alderman King, that the salary be fixed at $2 per day.

This motion was carried.

The salary of the deputy marshals was fixed at $780, the same as last year.

The following are the salaries:

It was also recommended to instruct the City Clerk to prepare an amendment to the ordinances, making the above changes. The report was accepted and the recommendation laid on the table.

LIQUOR AGENCY.

Alderman Winslow thought the City Liquor Agency should not be allowed, when the law against liquor selling was being so stringently enforced. He moved that it be discontinued after May 8th.

The motion was put and lost by a strict party vote of five to two.

The Mayor announced that it was the duty of the Board to choose a liquor agent, and nominated for that position Mr. Oren Ring.

Alderman Winslow nominated A. Q. Leach.

A vote was taken on the nomination of Mr. Ring and he was declared elected by the following vote: Yeas—Thurston, King, Little and Melcher. Nays—Winslow and Gould, Alderman Tewksbury not voting.

APPROPRIATIONS.

The committee on appropriations presented a list of appropriations which were adopted with the exception of those of the street and fire departments.

On motion of Alderman Winslow the appropriation of the street department was changed from $47,500 to $50,000 and on motion of Alderman Winslow that of the fire department from $17,000 to $18,000. With these changes the bill passed, but was sent back in non-concurrence from the common council.

The Welland Canal.

The new Welland Canal has just been opened for traffic, and the initial movement of a loaded vessel from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario has been successfully performed—an event that has been looked forward to with great interest in the expectation that it is to exert a great influence on the transportation business of the lakes. The early history of the Canal is one of indifference on the part of capital and financial embarrassment for its projectors. Its construction was agitated in 1821, but it was three years before the first sod was turned, and nine years after breaking ground before the two lakes were permanently connected by it. Originally the locks were 110 feet in length by 22 in breadth. In 1841 the canal became the property of the Government, and its capacity was enlarged, and its construction made more substantial in character. In 1870 the necessity for a further enlargement became imperative, and after careful investigation, it was decided to abandon a part of the old work, build a new canal from Port Dalhousie to Allanburg, and there join the original channel, which was to be deepened and enlarged to meet the requirements of the new navigation. The plan is not quite completed, and the contemplated scale of navigation cannot yet be carried out; but it is open for a much larger business than before. The propeller, John C. Gault, of the Wabash line, which is the largest vessel which has yet gone through, is 233 feet in length, with a breadth of beam 33 feet. Its capacity is 42,000 bushels of corn on a draft of 13½ feet. She was sixteen hours in passage from lake to lake, and the voyage is reported as being very successful. The lockages are made in about twenty minutes. The completion of this work, which has occupied so long a time, is a matter of great importance to Portland as adding to her facilities for rapid and effective communication with the West.

THE Apaches in New Mexico, and the cow boys in Arizona, are keeping things lively on our Southwestern frontier. The Apaches differ from most of the other Indian tribes. They fight, not to avenge some real or supposed grievance, but as a means of livelihood, striking when and where they can do so with impunity. The proximity of the Mexican border affords them a ready retreat, though the boundary line is not always respected by their pursuers. The little Indian war now going on there differs in no respect from half a hundred others. It began with a surprise and slaughter of the whites, and will probably end with a three fold slaughter of the Indians, unless they manage to make their escape far into Mexico. Armed bands of desperadoes, known as cow boys, are proving more dangerous to law-abiding citizens in Arizona than the Indians. These companies have usually nothing to do with cattle, but are simply organized gangs of robbers who plunder and murder with more boldness and with as little conscience as the Apaches. They have been carrying on their operations of late so extensively and boldly that the President has been moved to ask the assent of Congress to his using the military power of the United States to suppress them, or in lieu of that the employment of a volunteer military force to aid the civil authorities. The use of this regular army would require a repeal of the posse comitatus law of 1878, passed when the Democrats in Congress were red in the face over the imaginary wrongs chargeable to "troops at the polls." Our little army is our only protection against lawlessness on the frontier, and it should not be tied down and rendered helpless by restrictions aid down with a view only to the supposed necessities of the older portion of the country.

EX-DELEGATE Cannon of Utah recently denied that there was any such doctrine of the Mormon church as "blood atonement," in the sense of shedding the blood of enemies of the church by authority of the church. In answer to this denial the following quotation from a sermon delivered by Brigham Young in February, 1857, is quoted:

I could refer you to plenty of instances where men have been righteously slain in order to atone for their sins. I have seen scores and hundreds of people for whom there would have been a chance in the last resurrection if their lives had been taken and their blood spilled upon the ground as a smoking incense to the Almighty. I have known a great many men who have left this church for whom there is no chance whatever for exaltation; but if their blood had been spilled it would have been better for them. The wickedness and ignorance of the nations forbid this principle being in full force; but the time will come when the law of God will be in full force. This is loving our neighbor as ourselves. If he needs help, help him. If he wants salvation, and if it is necessary to spill his blood upon the ground in order that he may be saved, spill it.

SOMEBODY writes of feminine type-setters: "As a class feminine type-setters are diligent and worthy. They never 'sojer'; they never bother the editors for chewing tobacco; they never prowl around among the exchanges for the Police Gazette; they never swear about the business manager; they do not smoke nasty old clay pipes; they never strike for more pay; they do not allude to editorial matter as 'slush' or 'hog-wash'—in short, they are patient, gentle, conscientious and reliable."

THE Denver Herald says the demand that the Democratic national convention shall meet there in 1884 will probably be conceded, as "Denver in this matter is the early bird." The inference that the Democratic party is a worm will be resented by some of the prouder spirits of the party.

A LITERARY paper of Chicago advertises the first chapter of a gory novel of which Jesse James is the hero. "Wardell raised his revolver. Crack!" and then we are referred to the literary paper of Chicago for the awful and hair-raising scene that followed.

THERE are nearly 1200 more post offices in the United States now than at the same time last year.

GOVERNOR Colquitt, of Georgia, is opposed to a third term, for which reason he will not be a candidate for re-election. The Independent movement in Georgia, which the Governor says amounted to nothing, may have helped to strengthen his resolution.

THE Denver Tribune says "Indiana revolves around Tom Hendricks every 24 hours." That is because Hendricks is her son.

Washington Letter.

Democratic Obstructiveness—How the Bourbons Hold Fast to the Bad—The Contested Election Cases—Two Alleged Greenbackers from Maine—The Tariff Commission—The Western Election—The Maine Campaign.

WASHINGTON APRIL 28.

Had there been any doubt before, the history of the last few weeks would have made certain the fact that the Democratic policy is one of obstruction and of ruin. The Bourbons fought and defeated the early consideration of the bill to extend the charter of national banks whose lease expires within twelve months; they have killed time on the tariff commission bill, hoping thereby to strangle every effort at reform in taxation that doesn't involve free trade and obstruction to New England manufacturing and agricultural industries; they have obstructed and postponed the decision of the election cases, thereby keeping in their seats members who were elected by fraud, intimidation and open violence; they have strangled and well nigh killed plans to provide for the adjudication of private claims so that Congress may not be monopolized by questions that should be heard by judicial tribunals; and they have made as desperate a fight to uphold Mormonism as they did for slavery in the old days, but the Republicans have decided that no Mormon will ever sit in Congress again. In short, the Bourbon schemes for obstructive mischief seem to be limited only by their opportunities; for they apparently never neglect any chances to commit blunders to the injury of themselves or their country or both.

The present condition and prospects of those several measures may be briefly stated. The question of extending the charters of the national banks is one which concerns the people who transact business and who raise crops and make articles for general consumption more vitally than it does the people who run the banks. The failure of extension of their charters will operate as a withdrawal, at least temporarily, of many millions of the circulating medium. It would force a contraction of the currency, which is one of the great scarecrows heretofore urged by the greenbackers. It be would a contraction which would operate with greater hardship than gradual contraction by law, since it would be sudden, and would create an immediate shock, which would embarrass the farmers and small traders most disasterously, especially those who belong to the debtor class. The value of money, the rate of interest, would be emphatically increased, bringing ruin upon many who would have obligations to meet at the time. Sincere Greenbackers, as well as Republicans,—in fact all classes except the Bourbons who evidently appear to be laboring for panics in order to go into power upon the tide of disasters—would naturally favor the present status of the money system until a better one can be devised. Yet in spite of the ruinous threat in this obstructive Bourbon policy, the two ex-Greenback and full fledged Democratic members for Maine vote every time against any consideration of the subject, thus directly promoting sudden and extensive contraction of the currency, which their constituents would so much deplore. It is believed, however, that the Republicans and enough liberal and fair men of the other parties will be found to pass this measure of relief at an early day. Some of its opponents have evidently heard from their constituents, for there is said to be a chance of voting within a day or two in favor of guarding against disaster before it is too late.

As to the election cases, the Republicans and Greenbackers are substantially united upon them, and will bring nearly all of them up this week and press to an issue one or two of them at last. The fact is, the Southern Bourbons have treated the Republicans and Greenbackers alike, and counted out members fairly elected to give place to rebel generals like Chalmers of unsavory fame. On the election cases all the Greenbackers, except the alleged ones from Maine, will, it is understood, vote with the Republicans. The first case on the calendar is that of Lynch vs. Chalmers of Mississippi. There is no doubt that Mr. Lynch was fairly elected. He is a colored man, his district is about three to one colored and Republican, and the so-called election of Chalmers was one of the most glaring frauds on record. The House has so decided and seated Lynch. The second case on the calendar is Mackey vs. O'Connor of South Carolina. O'Connor was elected by tissue ballots and fraudulent count. After the election he died, and the Governor called a special election, at which one Dibble was elected, the Republicans taking no part, on the ground that Mr. Mackey had already been elected and would be seated. Mr. Mackey claims his seat on that account, and the only defence at all worth consideration is that Dibble is the sitting member, holding a certificate of election where there was no opposition. The third case is that of Bisbee vs. Finley of Florida, which is another case based upon glaring fraud. Probably the next case will be that of Lowe vs. Wheeler of Alabama, although this is not yet reported. Mr. Lowe is a Greenbacker. Notwithstanding Bourbon fraud, Wheeler was returned by only 43 majority in a vote of over 25,000. Another case from Alabama yet to report upon is that of Smith vs. Shelby. These cases will be disposed of probably in the order named, and the contestants will all be seated. The Democrats threaten to filibuster, and the cases are so clearly against them that the Republicans will not, or should not, regret such action, for it will show the country distinctly that Bourbonism means corruption and general wrong in elections. Some Democrats boastfully declared with reference to Mr. Lynch, that "no d—d nigger shall ever again sit in Congress." But he is there, and the fight against him is an unhealthy issue for the Bourbons to make in a case so clear as his and against a colored Representative so able as he is.

It is possible yet that something may be done to relieve Congress of the annual avalanche of private claims, even if the present plan, or a better one, shall fail through Democratic desire to repress all effort at reform. The bill under consideration was not all that could have been desired and many Republicans would favor its revision by Mr. Reed's Judiciary Committee, were it not for the fact that Democratic opposition would be in no degree abated by further perfection, and there is danger in delay. It is hoped, however, that enough conservative Democrats in the Senate, as well as in the House, may join the right movement to make captious opposition unavailing, as also in the case of the revenue and banking questions.

Every development in the adverse discussion of the tariff commission bill shows that the leading minds in the Democratic organization are tending towards absolute free trade, and that finally all who believe in any measure of protection to home industry must leave that party. The Democratic orators do not tolerate differences upon that subject as they did formerly, and some of the more liberal Democrats are daily read out of the party because they are coming round to the Republican standpoint. The tariff bill will probably pass next week, although the Republicans are apparently in no haste about it, believing that the Bourbons are every day piling up speeches that will count against them in the coming campaigns.

It is curious to note the effect of the sober second thought on the late local Western election. The boundless brag of the Bourbons here at having carried several western cities has been turned to sad reflection, and the anxious inquiry with them now is whether elections carried solely on the rum issue organized and led by the liquor dealer's association and the beer brewers constitute substantial victories to boast off. But the whole story hasn't been told. In every case where the rum-sellers made gains, it is known to be by a light vote, the saloon elements being the only one fully represented. And further, it appears that whenever there was a full vote, and uniformly in the country towns, the liquor dealers and the Bourbons went down together. Republican Members of Congress express themselves as well pleased with the Spring elections all round. Many who are not prohibitionists are gratified that the liquor dealer's association have allied themselves so decidedly with the Democratic organization because that alliance will drive reputable people away from any party at the polls.

Many inquiries are made touching Maine politics, and it is evident that all eyes are turned there as upon the first decisive battle-field of the campaign. The Republicans are confidently expecting a grand send-off at the coming Republican State Convention, to be followed by grand results at the polls, and the more reputable Greenbackers in Congress are hoping likewise that their Maine friends will abandon the old Bourbon hulk to its fate. They are fast losing Democratic sympathies and renouncing Democratic affiliations.

J. W. B.

The man who is in a hurry, but has to go slow because four women ahead of him think they own the earth, and insist on walking abreast, and forcing every man they meet into the gutter, will never feel grieved to have them meet four of their own sex coming the other way in the same style. Neither crowd will give way for a minute, and, when they do break, they collide, and have a horrid time, and hate each other; and, if a big dog, all mud, will only rush in and wipe himself on the nuisances, it's ecstacy for the man.—Boston Post.

Millett and Little,

NO. 576 CONGRESS ST.

On THURSDAY, April 27th, we shall offer some of the best trades yet in our Silk Department, comprising some of the most extraordinary bargains ever afforded by a Portland firm. The specialties enumerated below were purchased as jobs from the stock of A. T. Stewart & Co., of New York, now selling out at nominal rates. We propose to give our patrons the benefit of this magnificent opportunity and we invite their attention to the following:

RHADAMAS.

A limited quantity of colored Rhadamas which we offer for $1.34 a yard; been selling for $2.00.

GROS GRAIN SILK.

25 pieces Gros Grain Black Silk, 24 inches wide, very heavy at $1.50 a yard; been selling for $2.00. We keep the largest variety of Black Silks in the State, and we guarantee as good bargain in every case as can be obtained in the United States.

BROCADES.

27 pieces colored Brocaded and Morie Striped Silks at $1.50 per yard, extra quality.

10 pieces Brocaded and Striped Grenadines, new importations, at $1.25, $1.75 and $2.00 per yard.

1 lot of Brocaded and Striped Plush Grenadines, magnificent effects at $6.00 per yard; these goods are not generally exhibited east of New York City.

CREPES.

One lot of Japan Silk and Wool Crepes, with brocade effects to make up with it.

NUNS' VEILINGS.

One lot of Satin Striped Veilings; beautiful goods for summer wear.

An Extra Bargain.

25 pieces Satin and Ottoman Stripe, in fancy colors; these are new styles, the popular goods for plaited skirts to combine with plain silk for overdresses. We offer these goods at $1.75 per yard, although they are selling rapidly in New York for $3.00 per yard.

WOOL GOODS.

5 pieces Black Brocaded Wool Goods, 48 inches wide at $1.50 per yard

5 pieces Silk and Wool French Drap d'Almas, 42 inches wide, highest number at $2.00 per yard.

The above specialties were purchased at much less than the regular wholesale price, and we can therefore sell them at the foregoing rates which as will be seen, are extraordinary low. As these goods are limited in quantity, we advise our customers to call and examine them at the earliest opportunity.

Brief Jottings.

OUR TELEPHONE NUMBER HAS BEEN CHANGED FROM 14 TO 135.

Fine and warm yesterday. Mercury 35° at sunrise, 60° at noon, 52° at sunset; wind south-southwest.

It is thought the Grand Army will clear $450 on "61-65."

Messrs. Loring, Short & Harmon are the publishers of the railroad map drawn by Mr. Foster, and mentioned in yesterday's PRESS.

The Chestnut street church ladies will hold a fair and apron sale at the vestry, Wednesday evening, and Thursday afternoon and evening.

The Italians, recently employed by the Boston & Maine, struck yesterday for $1.50 per day.

The sixth annual ball given under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will take place at City Hall tonight, with music by Chandler.

A picked nine from Portland and Deering played the Unions of Cumberland Centre, Saturday afternoon, the score standing 7 to 6 in favor of the Unions.

Mr. Gilson took charge of the Falmouth Hotel yesterday. Messrs. Adams and Wormell, clerks, continue. Mr. Gilson brings from New York cooks, head-waiter, porter and baker.

Remember the usual temperance meeting tonight at Gospel Mission at 7.45. Also the usual consecration meeting at 3 p. m. All are invited to these services.

The barque Celina of Portland, at Boston from Buenos Ayres, reports on the 23d of April a seaman named Alfred S. Koay fell from aloft and was drowned. He was 19 years of age and a native of Sweden.

Saturday some 30 laborers at work at Lake Sebago on the water works, became dissatisfied and did not go to work. Yesterday they were paid off and many of them concluded to return to work, which they were allowed to do.

The Grand Lodge of Masons of Maine will begin its annual session in Masonic Hall this morning. The committee on credentials will be in session at the hall at 7 o'clock. Quite a number of leading Masons arrived yesterday.

A freight car off the track on the Ogdensburg road near the transfer station, delayed the passenger train last night, but hacks were sent out from the city and brought the passengers in. The train itself was delayed about three hours.

The Glasgow Company, Leadville, owning the Glasgow, Iron, Little Nell and Zephyr, in which some Portland people are interested, have let several contracts on their mine and are taking out mineral very similar to Fanny Barret ore.

Two clerical errors occurred in our account of the Foreign Missions meetings in yesterday's edition. The morning service was credited to State street church instead of High street church, and the time of the meeting was stated June instead of October.

The Cape Elizabeth Depot M. E. church is enjoying quite a revival interest. Several during the past week have signified their desire to live a Christian life. The pastor, Rev. M. C. Pendexter, was excused from the Conference in order that he might attend to the interests of the church.

The Cadet Ball at Bath.

Arrangements for the Cadet ball at Bath by the Bath High School Cadets, complimentary to the High School Cadets of this city, have been completed and it promises to be a very brilliant affair. The hall where the drill and ball is to take place has dancing room for five hundred couples and seating room for as many more. Beside this there is a banquet hall on the right wing of the building equally as large. Gov. Plaisted and Gen. Chamberlain and staffs, with many other prominent men and the reception committee, will occupy a platform on the left of the entrance. The whole building has been tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, and will present a very handsome appearance. Chandler has been engaged to give a concert before the drill. The next day both companies will attend the ship launching at Goss & Sawyer's shipyard. As the ship is one of the largest ever built in Bath the launch will be a sight worth seeing.

The boys with many of their friends will leave on the 1 o'clock train and return on the evening of the next day.

Personal.

In our Circuit Court record yesterday appeared the case of U. S. by indictment vs. John W. Perkins, instead of John W. Jenkins, a very different man.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Neely officiated at the services in St. John's Episcopal church in Bangor Sunday. An able sermon was preached by Bishop Neely and eight persons were confirmed.

The statement contained in the Bangor Whig and copied into the Lewiston Journal of Monday, to the effect that the condition of the health of Collector Morrill is such as to excite grave apprehension on the part of his family is, as we are informed by an official in the Custom House, not in accord with information received direct from Mr. Morrill himself as late as Saturday evening, and from family friends by mail of yesterday noon. Our informant further says that it is understood by those who are in frequent communication with the Collector that his health is improving rather than failing.

First Parish Church.

The annual meeting of the First Parish was held yesterday afternoon and the following officers were elected:

Moderator—S. J. Anderson.
Clerk—T. H. Haskell.
Treasurer and Collector—Charles G. Haines.
Assessors—F. R. Barrett, Augustus Cummings.
Parish Committee—M. P. Emery, I. P. Farrington, Frank E. Allen.
Decoration Committee—Mrs. H. T. Whipple, Frank E. Allen, F. H. Jordan.
Ushers—F. H. Jordan, C. G. Haines, Farrington Whipple.

The usual sums of money were voted for church expenses and salaries.

DOWN TOWN.

Financial—Miscellaneous Items—The Fish Market—Lumber.

The Boston money market continued quiet and weak yesterday, and the demand for loans was limited. Government bonds were unchanged except 4½s, which were ¼ higher. Sterling exchange was firm. The stock market was dull and weak and mining shares were irregular. An attempt was made in the House yesterday to fix a day for the discussion of Mr. Crapo's bill for the extension of bank charters, but it was defeated by Greenback opposition. Comptroller Knox differs from the views of Mr. Crapo relative to the reorganization of national banks whose charters are about to expire.

The receipts of flour yesterday by rail were 2,875 barrels; of grain 20,000 bushels. The receipts at the elevator for the week were 35,000; delivered, 13,000; received for the month, 160,000 bushels, but little more than half the amount for the corresponding month last year.

The manufacture of pails from paper pulp is to be begun by Portland enterprise at an early day.

The Portland fish market yesterday was firm with light stocks. The schooner Annie Sargent arrived from the Western Bank with about 70,000 pounds of cod and haddock. She will stock from $1700 to $1800 for the trip of four weeks. She reported a good deal of bad weather. We addalso small fares aggregating about eight thousand pounds. The shore fishers brought so far as we could ascertain, about 5000 pounds fresh fish. No reports of arrivals have been received of the Maine fleet now off the Capes. The receipts at Gloucester since Saturday were 550 pounds codfish, 11,700 do halibut, 30,000 do haddock. Prices there have favored buyers somewhat, and most kinds of cured dry fish have sold at a decline of 25 cents per qtl. Georges codfish are very scarce on the banks, and all returning fishermen are landing small fares, averaging about half the amount of those who returned last week from the same fishing grounds. The Western Bank fleet is meeting with good success, and has secured fares much earlier in the season than usual, and has already landed more than double the amount landed last year at the same time. The Southern mackerel fleet has found some mackerel during the past week, one or two salt fares having arrived in New York and Philadelphia, which sold from $7 to $8 per bbl., sea packed.

Reports from the interior are that trade is dull, owing to the bad state of the roads, consequently orders for all kinds of merchandise have temporarily slackened.

A gentleman who spent last week in Northern New Hampshire, says there has been a great demand for labor of all kinds, and French Canadians have been sought to work in the mills and for out-of-door employments.

The first new wheat of the season was received at St. Louis on Saturday, and was sold at $4.50 per bushel, the highest price ever paid there. It consisted of 100 sacks, was a little damp, but plump and white. It was raised in Arkansas.

The latest report from the New York lumber market is a generally unsatisfactory condition. Buyers are indifferent and dealers are not anxious to make additions until they can see their way for the future somewhat more clearly. Any alarm over possible short supplies has also in a measure subsided, and while no surplus can be expected, it is likely there will be enough lumber to go around this season. White pine continues to be best sustained, in view of the export calls, while spruce and yellow pine are gradually shading off on the proper assortments. At Albany business is quiet and building operations are suspended owing to the rise in material and the price of labor.

Incidents of the Consular System.

A writer in the Boston Advertiser illustrates some of the the evil workings of the American Consular system by a couple of incidents; which may be briefly summed up as follows: In August, 1880, brig Jessie Rhynas, put into St. Thomas to replace a chain and anchor lost. While there the captain was taken ill and the crew refused to proceed in the vessel. Meantime the brig Wm. Mason, owned by the same parties, and commanded by a brother of the captain of the Rhynas, came into port and in order to hasten the voyage of the latter vessel, put his own mate in charge of the Rhynas and received the second mate of the brig Julia E. Haskell. The consul's charges for these transfers were as follows: Fees for shipping a master for the Jessie Rhynas, for discharging a mate from the William Mason, and for shipping another; for discharging a second mate from the Julia E. Haskell, and shipping another; and three months' extra wages each to the mate promoted from the William Mason to master of the Rhynas, and the second mate promoted from the Julia E. Haskell, as being discharged in a foreign port, although they were simply transferred from one vessel to another. The consul abated two months of the extra pay, as allowed by the consular regulations, but exacted all the other charges enumerated. All the wages and fees demanded were paid, and a request was afterward made to the State Department at Washington that the extra wages be refunded, and it was so recommended to the Treasury Department, but in the latter department it was decided that the consul had not only acted in accordance with the regulations, but had been very generous in not taking three months' pay for each man instead of one month. In the case of a British vessel in a foreign port there would have been simply a fee of fifty cents for discharging and shipping each man, and not a cent for extra wages; the British government allowing shipmasters and seamen to make their own bargains and their consuls simply ratifying such bargains without charge, except the fee of fifty cents for discharging or shipping.

A few weeks ago the barque Megunticook, of Boston, was at Portland, in the stream, ready for sea, bound to Montevideo for orders, with crew all on board and a fair wind blowing When the captain went on board with his papers, ready to sail, he found the crew had mutinied and refused to go in the vessel, giving no reason whatever except that they did not wish to go. A new crew was finally obtained. The captain, explained why he did not take the refractory crew to sea, as follows: "I can do it and perhaps have no further trouble with them, but on arrival at River la Plate some sea lawyer amongst them might put the others up to a demand to see the consul, to swear that they had been ill-treated, no matter how well they had been treated, and I should be at the mercy of the consul; and if he felt inclined, he could discharge the whole crew and compel me to pay three months' extra wages to each man. Then I should be obliged to get another crew as best I could in a foreign port." Is it any wonder American shipowners groan and complain under such burdens, and demand that such laws, made in the years of our forefathers, should be blotted from the statute books, and something more suited to the times substituted in their place?

Phrenology.

Miss May Chapman will give a course of lectures soon in this city on Phrenology. The Boston Journal says: "The lecture of May Chapman before the Temperance Alliance at Norwood, drew a full house. She classed intemperance with other vices, as one among many having their cause in the violation of the organic and moral laws of life. The lecture was thoughtful, just, and very suggestive, covering a good deal of ground and giving people something to think of and remember Any temperance course would do well to secure a lecture from May Chapman. Her language is good and manner of delivery easy and impressive."

Associated Charities.

There was a very good attendance of our citizens in the store No. 277 Middle street yesterday, and it is hoped the patronage will be extended liberally during the week. The garments are of good material, carefully made; the candy is celebrated as of the best made in the United States; all the other articles show taste and skill, and their purchase by the public will aid most deserving people. To-day Mrs. Horace Anderson and Mrs. Brown will have charge of the store.

Contract Awarded.

Gen. Thom on May 1st opened bids for furnishing and depositing 2000 tons of rubble stone on the bulkhead on Long Point, Provincetown Harbor, Mass. Two bids were received, as follows:

Joseph H. White of Hyde Park, Mass., at $1.82 per ton of 2240 pounds—if time for delivering same be extended to four months, at $1.72 per ton; and Charles H Edwards, of Quincy, Mass., at $1.86 per ton.

Contract awarded to Joseph H. White, at $1.72 per ton of 2240 pounds.

EVERGREEN CEMETERY.

Report of the Secretary of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. W. T. Small, Secretary of the Board of Trustees of Evergreen Cemetery, makes the following report:

The area of the grounds has been slightly increased the past year by the purchase of the land on which the new tool-house is located, making the entire area of the cemetery about 209 acres, at a cost of $38,602.52. The extent of the cemetery proper has been increased by extension of Section R, and it now covers, with the ponds, about 71 acres. There are 2912 lot holders and 4,660 lots in the cemetery. The extension the past year makes 28 miles of avenues and paths combined. An increased number of lots—about 1300—has been cared for by the city, and increased interest taken by lot holders.

About 3,000 lots in the cemetery are uncared for, and many abandoned, in a sad state of neglect. This is partly owing to the lot holders being extinct, or have removed from the city with no provision for the care of the property. The price charged for the care of a lot—$1.50—is not a heavy tax on any one. If parties interested in these lots will provide for perpetual or season care of them, the city will be justified in caring for the balance. To make the cemetery a pride to the citizens lot holders must unite with the trustees.

Section D has been improved by the removal of old buildings, and the only one found of value has been removed to the brow of the hill, near the windmill, and used as a tool-house. A cellar, under the building, will be constructed for the storage of water carts, and the city will realize about $1,500 from lots heretofore covered by these buildings. The completion of Section Q has been much improved and opened up a number of desirable lots. Magdalene Cemetery has been cleared of the low pine growth which covered it, and its extent and value seen, and the territory will be designed and laid out before any lots are graded.

Section S, near the pond, will be laid out and graded the coming season to meet the demand for a cheaper class of lots. It contains 181 lots. These lots will be very desirable at a much smaller price than any now offered by the city. A number of the finest lots in the cemetery, in Section R, have been graded the past season and are eagerly sought for. The Central Avenue entrance has become so prominent that it will have to be widened by using a portion of the ornamental piece on the east of the entrance. The trustees bought 7,000 evergreens the past season and will plant a hedge along the eastern and southern boundary and eventually remove the unsightly wooden fence. They have erected a spacious tool-house in the rear of the office at the entrance, with two stalls and water closets for public use, and a chamber for storage. All employes have to report morning and night and are held accountable for tools used. The condition of the avenues and fences has been improved, but some of the avenues and paths must be regraded.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

RED RIDING HOOD.

The production of the juvenile operetta of Red Riding Hood at City Hall, yesterday afternoon and evening, will be conceded to have been the most successful of the long list of admirable entertainments given under the auspices of Bosworth Post. The overflowing house of the afternoon was handsomely supplemented by the crowded attendance in the evening; and frequent applause attested the pleasure afforded by exceptionally brilliant tableaux and grouping; the graceful evolutions of the juveniles in dance and drill, and the uniform excellence of the music. Miss Pond's reputation as a vocalist was well maintained in solo and duet, while Messrs. Edwards and Cushing, the young Misses Farrell and Libby, in their charming duet Der Wasserfall, and little Miss Addie Pierce as Red Riding Hood, and others, received merited applause. It is a matter for congratulation that we have in our midst material for exhibitions so satisfactory and unexceptionable in all respects.

BENEFIT CONCERT.

A concert complimentary to Mrs. Anna J. Day, will be given at Rossini Hall tomorrow evening, at which Miss Bartlett and Mrs. Morrison, Miss O'Brion, Mr. Stockbridge and Mr. Beckett will assist. The tickets are for sale at Stockbridge's, Swett & Swift's, and Mrs. Ulmer's, and we hope there will be a large sale for the concert will prove one of the best of the season.

NOTES.

At the annual dinner of the St. George's Society, lately held in Baltimore, "during the course of the evening Mr. Crouch was called upon, and seating himself at the piano sang very pathetically the touching numbers of his sweet ballad, "Kathleen Mavourneen." There were those present who had heard him sing this song 25 years ago, and were thrilled with the pathos of a tremulous voice rendering the plaintive air and the tender words by the venerable bard in his age. The poet was toasted, all standing."

Mr. J. J. Sullivan, the actor, lately deceased in Chicago, was a favorite actor of the Boston Theatre and Boston Museum, who had often appeared in Portland. He was a handsome man, of great talent, and was about 37 years of age.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Concerning the proposed fusion of the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways a Montreal despatch says the feeling among the business men of the city is that the Grand Trunk is a much better party to control the Western than the Canada Pacific. A prominent Grand Trunk official in Toronto is reported as saying that "arrangements will be made to carry out the agreement in spite of Parliament." A leading railroad man in Montreal is reported as saying that by the arrangement Vanderbilt and the Canada Pacific will be left in the cold; that the Grand Trunk will be the first Canadian road to give direct communication with the Northwest. He stated farther: Just let Mr. Hickson gain control of the Western Canadian lines, and North-Western wheat will come of itself. The more railways taken up by the Grand Trunk Railway the better for their through freight.

At the annual meeting of the Lewiston and Auburn Railroad, Hon. J. L. H. Cobb, Treasurer, reported that the receipts the past year had been $18,000 for rental from the Grand Trunk; the cash balance last year was $713.54. The expenditures for the year for bonds, premiums, incidental expenses, etc., had been $18,553.19, leaving a balance in the treasury of $158.35. The following Directors for the coming year were chosen: George S. Woodman, James Dingley, Charles E. Smith, J. L. H. Cobb, E. S. Davis, J. M. Robbin, C. I. Barker, James Dempsey, G. G. Wagg.

The Ogdensburg and Lake Champlain railway is pushing the new bridge at Rouse's Point.

Church Fair.

There will be a sale of fancy and useful articles at the vestry of the Church of the Messiah next Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and evenings under the auspices of the Sunday School. Wednesday evening the school children will present the pleasing drama of "Comrades," and Thursday evening the children of the First Universalist school will present the play of "Our Folks."

New Organizations.

The Yacht Club Sofa Berth Company has been organized for manufacturing and selling the Andrews sofa berth. Capital, $30,000; capital stock paid in, $30,000; par value shares, $5.

President—John E. Mowland.
Treasurer—W. H. C. Lawrence.
Directors—J. E. Mowland, W. C. Lawrence, J. M. Olmstead, James Alexander, C. L. Heywood.

Fire Losses.

The losses by fires in the United States for months of January, February, and March, amount to the sum of $23,415,700, being $4,000,000 more than for the corresponding months of 1881.

Life Insurance Payments.

The amount paid by the several life insurance companies for death claims and endowments reported for the week ending April 15th aggregates the sum of $484,703, of which the Mutual Life Company paid $110,546.

Judge Walton and the Vacant Judgeship.

Judge Walton said to a Lewiston Journal reporter, Saturday, in reference to the vacant Judgeship, that although there is not one lawyer in a hundred in the State, whether Democratic or Republican, but favored the reappointment of Judge Libbey, he did not have the least idea that Governor Plaisted would nominate Judge Libbey or that this Council would confirm the nomination of any other person; but the vacancy will exist until after the September election. "I however notice with surprise," said the Judge, "a statement in some of the daily papers, that during the summer months the Supreme Court is in vacation, and therefore, there is no need of the eighth Judge. The fact is, during the summer months we Judges have the hardest of our work and the most important, too. There are three law terms, one at Bangor, one at Augusta and one at Portland. It has been the practice to have six of the Justices present at each of the law terms, this being one more than a majority. We have already assigned six to each term this summer but we shall have only one spare man and the others will have to do the more work in consequence. I shall be present at two of the terms, having served at three last summer. The trouble will come in October and November, when eight Nisi Prius courts are in session, and seven Judges will be required to spread themselves over eight counties. We may be able to arrange matters by adjourning in the midst of a term in some county for a time long enough to hold a brief term in another county, and then complete the first court; or we may lose a term. A term was lost when Judge Dickinson died, owing to a failure to appoint."

STATE NEWS.

ANDROSCOGGIN COUNTY.

The Journal says that a call will be issued this week, for a meeting to organize a stock company of Lewiston and Auburn gentlemen, for the purpose of introducing the Brush electric light into the two cities. No plans have been matured, but the intention is to organize with a capital stock of $100,000, to be paid in as the expenditures require.

Lewiston is already talking up a monster Fourth of July celebration in that city. It is proposed to invite the militia of Maine to parade; prizes will be offered to fire and military companies for competitive drill, and horribles, balloon ascensions, fireworks, etc., will be minor parts of the programme.

A powerful blast of grant powder was ignited Saturday at the north end of the Bates corporation in Lewiston and the result was one great boulder struck the end of the quilt mill, built last summer, and made a black and ragged hole three feet long and two feet high through the brick wall. Another weighing 50 pounds or more arose in the air to the height of 50 feet and traversing the whole depth of the Bates corporation, flew beyond the railroad and over Hutchins' box factory, and came down in a puddle of water near Spillain's house in the rear of Hines' alley. No one was injured.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

One of the shortest terms of the S. J. Court ever held in Wiscasset has just closed. It came in Tuesday and dissolved on Friday. The juries were all discharged the second day. Only one trial was had and that was a rum case, Mr. Alden Blossom of the town of Boothbay having been found guilty and paid a fine and costs. This is the good effect of the temperance club at Boothbay. Quite a number of divorces were granted. Judge Symonds presided; this was his first term here. Judge Libbey, whose term expired a day or two ago, was also here on the bar and was engaged on some cases.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY.

Gen. Smith of Bangor is preparing to build a fire ladder factory.

The foundation for the new machine and repair shops of the European and North American railway at Mattawamkeag is being gotten ready and work of constructing the shops will be rapidly pushed. The building will be of brick and will be 134 feet in length by 60 feet in width and will be about 18 feet in height. It is proposed to have a model establishment.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

It is probable that a large brick block costing about $15,000 will be erected during the present season in Pittsfield. A large portion of the money has already been subscribed and it is anticipated work will be commenced soon. The proposed edifice will be quite an acquisition to the town.

A young man living in Hartland cut his leg quite severely a few weeks since. Shortly afterwards the limb began to swell and it is reported death has resulted from the effects of the cut.

SAGADAHOC COUNTY.

The Times says James E. Oliver, the man who was injured at Hunt's saw mill, Winnegance, on Monday evening, died Saturday morning at half past eight o'clock. He appeared quite bright during the week, retained his faculties, his mind was perfectly clear, and he appeared to be gaining until Saturday morning when he sunk rapidly and passed away.

WALDO COUNTY.

It is reported that a charter for a new commandery at Belfast is to be asked from the Grand Commandery at the present session.

Nathaniel Stimpson of Brooks is probably the oldest resident in Waldo county, and was 100 years old last February. He is a pensioner of the war of 1812, and is remarkably vigorous for one of his age. Recently he walked a mile and a half to visit a son, and while there sawed wood and picked over white beans without the aid of glasses.

YORK COUNTY.

There are three cases of small pox in Biddeford.

Biddeford now claims a French Canadian population of over 6,500, 50 French traders, 4 French schools and a French church large enough to be called a cathedral.

An Episcopal chapel to cost $2,500 will be built this year at Old Orchard.

AMPUTATION OF THE LEG.

The Old Family Physician at Fault—Dr David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cynic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Ellsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., had realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man looked forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—asserting that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy of Rondout, N. Y. who was consulted, held a different opinion, and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood Specific FAVORITE REMEDY to afford tone and strength to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Ellsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try Favorite Remedy. Your druggist has it. ONE DOLLAR a bottle. Dear Sir—Having suffered intensely for four years with disease of the Kidneys, after having during that time tried various medicines without obtaining relief, I was induced to try a bottle of your ELIXER OF LIFE ROOT, and it affords me pleasure to say that one bottle of it completely cured me. I recommend it as the only valuable and certain cure for kidney troubles I have ever seen. I would add that before taking your medicine I had become so weak that I was about to give up work. Hoping that others who have suffered like myself may be o fortunate as to try your valuable medicine,

Truly yours, T. F. MCMAIN.

Monsters of Ancient Times.

When Elephants Larger than Jumbo Roamed through the Middle States.

[New York Sun.]

"Jumbo wasn't a circumstance to the elephants that used to stamp around this country," said a professor of natural history when asked whether the beast just landed was of extraordinary size. "In 1866, while excavating in Cohoes, N. Y., workmen broke into what seemed to be a big pot hole or well, such as is seen sometimes in the rock bed of rivers. It was full of muck and peaty soil, and at the bottom were found the chief bones of an immense elephant. It was determined that the animal had been washed into the hole when New York State was covered with glaciers hundreds, perhaps thousands, of feet thick. That condition of the country can explain the number of potholes from ten to sixty feet in depth near the Mohawk River. They were formed by water from the surface of a glacier falling into crevasses and forming cascades, often 1,000 feet in height. The Cohoes elephant was half a million years ago, perhaps, entombed in a great mass of moving ice, and when thawed out was washed into the hole in which it was preserved so many years.

In the collection in Rutgers College is a fragment of a tusk that is worn down and polished on one side, showing plainly the peculiar glacial striæ. A tusk in the collection of the Philadelphia Academy of Science shows similar markings. The American elephant was probably exterminated by the glacial drift. A famous place for these elephant remains is the Big Bone Lick, in Kentucky. In Warren County, New Jersey, some farmers, in cutting peat in a bog, found the remains of six animals less than six feet below the surface. The most perfect specimen was discovered at Newburgh, N. Y. The skeleton is now in the British Museum. It is twelve feet in height, and the tusks are ten feet in length. The animals roamed the western parts of the United States and Canada, and along the entire line of the Andes from 5 degrees north latitude to 40 degrees south, and remains have been dug up at Quito, nearly two miles above the level of the sea. Their tusks are often plowed up by farmers in St. Catherines, Canada West, Western Ohio, Alabama, Mississippi and Vermont. In Nebraska there was a smaller species. Compared to these animals the elephants of to-day are pigmies. The Newburgh elephant was twenty-five feet in length and more than twelve feet in height, and its feet were two feet across. So perfectly was it preserved that the remains of spruce and hemlock branches that it had eaten were found in the position of the stomach.

Those elephants rarely ranged further north than the latitude of St. Catherines, but beyond this ranged a hairy elephant a third larger and nearly three times as heavy as an elephant of to-day. From the end of the trunk to that of the tail it was thirty-five feet in length. The enormous tusks that reached out in great curves were from ten to sixteen feet in length and thirty inches in circumference at the base.

All along the borders of the Arctic Sea the remains of these monsters are found, and within a few months an interesting discovery has been made. A company of men started from Sitka, intending to search for the remains of ancient elephants, on account of the ivory. They followed the shores of the Polar Sea for 200 miles without finding a bone or a tusk. When almost discouraged, disheartened and determined to abandon the search, one of the party, in crossing a glacier, broke through the ice and disappeared. As the mass of ice was more than 1,000 feet thick, he was given up as lost, the nature of the crevasse being well known to the rest. One of the party, however, volunteered to attempt to learn the fate of the man. All the rope and cord in the party was bound together and the searcher was lowered into the hole. When about 100 feet down the line slackened, and a hall was heard. The searcher was hauled to the surface, and he explained that the crevasse was an enormous room in the glacier, and that the incline was so gradual that with but little work steps could be cut and the bottom reached. The line was made fast, and, armed with axes, five of the party were lowered into the chasm. They found a foothold, and soon reached the bottom, where the body of their comrade lay. He was only stunned, and was soon restored. It was then their eyes having become accustomed to the darkness, that the nature of their surroundings became apparent. The room was about 500 feet in circumference. Against the walls of ice dark, irregular-shaped masses appeared. Each minutely became more distinct, until the men saw high above them the indistinct form of a gigantic animal standing erect in the icy mass. Below it, but further in, and fully inclosed was another, and in a short time they traced the forms of thirty-five entombed monsters. Some were standing erect on their massive legs, others were lying on their backs as if they had fallen into a crevice and become wedged in, while one huge monster had its head down, with the body thrown over as if it had fallen headlong into the icy pit. One of the animals was partly thawed out, and the massive head and tusks hung down. From the ponderous trunk suspended large icicles, reaching to the floor and forming a column for its support. The bodies were entirely covered with a thick, hairy coat resembling jute, but frozen so firmly that it could not be cut. An entire herd had been entrapped in some manner, and was gradually moving in the body of the glacier toward the sea to be sometime cast up on the shore. Not one of the creatures, nor even a tusk, could be obtained without months of work, and the men reluctantly abondoned them.

"Early in the century a fisherman living near the mouth of the Lena River, in Siberia, discovered one of these monsters protruding from an ice cliff on the shores of the sea. The trunk, tusks and head were in full view above him. For five successive years he visited the spot, and was finally repaid one spring by finding the huge body on the sands below. It had been partly devoured by bears and wolves, and the flesh was so fresh and well preserved that the meat was cut away and given to the dogs. Even the brain and the eyes were well preserved, although, according to geologists, these animals have been dead hundreds of thousands of years. The skeleton is in the Museum of Natural History at St. Petersburg. About the same time a gigantic hairy rhinoceros was found in the ice, but it was destroyed by bears before it could be saved."

Wit and Wisdom.

When an Austin schoolmaster entered his temple of learning the other day, he read on the blackboard the touching legend, "Our teacher is a donkey." The pupils expected there would be a combined cyclone and earthquake, but the philosophic pedagogue contented himself with adding the word "driver" to the legend and opened the school with prayer as usual.—Texas Siftings.

It is probable that the young lady celebrated in those charming lines of Robert Burns, had tan, moth-spots and freckles, with other beauty blemishes. For such conditions Dr. Benson's Skin Cure should be on every lady's toilet table.

For Delicate Women.

Curing ulcerative weakness and displacement, constipation, piles, sick headache, dizzy spells, palpitation and nervousness, Dr. Corbett's Shakers' Sarsaparilla, prepared by Mary Whitcher.

Mr. John Smith, of Brooklyn, has obtained permission to have his name changed to John Courier Smith. It was a great oversight in Mr. Smith that he did not go a little further and get himself changed to John Courier-Journal Smith.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mary Whitcher,

Whose portrait adorns our columns, has been a conspicuous figure in Shaker history for more than half a century, and has always supervised the preparation of Dr. Corbett's Shakers' Sarsaparilla.

"An Albany Chinaman discovered for the first time a pole-cat. He rushed into the hotel where he is employed and the landlady excitedly asked: 'What in the world have you been doing, John?' The answer was: 'Me catchee labbit, but me lettee him glo again; 'Melican labbit smellee like hellee. O, my glacious!'"

Nearly a Miracle.

E. Asenith Hall, Binghamton, N. Y., writes: "I suffered for several months with a dull pain through left lung and shoulders. I lost my spirits, appetite and color, and could with difficulty keep up all day. My mother procured some BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS; I took them as directed, and have felt no pain since first week after using them, and am now quite well," Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

Very few prettier girls have I ever seen than one who sat near me an evening not long ago at table d'hôte at the Continental, Philadelphia. The loveliest of auburn hair, beautiful features smallest of mouths and prettiest of teeth—all combined to make her exceedingly attractive. Turning to a queer-looking little old lady at her side, she suddenly exclaimed: "Oh, ma, ain't them mince pies beastly!"—New York Hotel Mail.

"I cannot recommend "ELIXIR OF LIFE ROOT" too highly. It has entirely cured me of Kidney complaint of five years' standing.

"Yours, &c., R. A. SOMES."

Thousands of others testify the same.

"How much quinine can you take at a dose?" inquired one malarious individual of another, as they met on the street this morning. "Oh, not more'n about four grains. If I take any more it sets my head to working." "Does it? I should think you would take six grains twice a day."—New Haven Register.

WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE

— IN THE —

UNION MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

OF PORTLAND, MAINE.

IT IS AN OLD COMPANY, having been established over thirty years.

IT HAS PASSED THROUGH EVERY GREAT PANIC since its organization, paying every honest loss without dispute or delay.

IT IS A POPULAR COMPANY, having gained an established character for liberality by many years of fair dealing with its policy-holders.

IT HAS THE ENDORSEMENT OF the highest insurance authorities and the most prominent business and professional men all over the country, and for all these reasons is entitled to your consideration and respect.

IT IS A PURELY MUTUAL COMPANY, having no stockholders to take the lion's share of the profits. Mutual companies never fail.

IT HAS OVER THIRTEEN THOUSAND POLICIES in force, and is therefore sure of a fair average mortality, and cannot be seriously affected by epidemics.

IT IS A HOME COMPANY.

INCONTESTIBLE POLICIES! All policies issued after Nov. 16, 1881, are incontestible after three years from the date of the policies for any cause except fraud or statements of age.

ITS DEFINITE CONTRACT POLICY provides for every contingency which can occur during its continuance, and is so simple and clear that even a child can understand it.
